ETS shall periodically send you customised recommendations on your portfolio. Moreover, whenever necessary, ETS will provide you studies on the evolution of the products, as well as an explanation of specific matters that may arise. All the portfolio information, such as updated positions, profitability analysis, risk, evolution of exposure, investment universe and other updated information shall be available whenever you need it.

ETS may charge a maximum of the fees and commissions described in its Informative Brochure on Maximum Fees, duly registered and authorised by the CNMV. The Informative Brochure on Maximum Fees is available to you on the Bulletin Board at our office and on our web site www.ets.es. Its financial conditions shall be included in the service provision agreement you sign with us. Except for agreement to the contrary, payment of commissions on the cash amount in the portfolio advice concerns shall be settled each quarter, and that for advice on portfolio revaluation annually.

ETS may deliver the client information addressed to them either on paper or on a durable media other than paper. To that end, ETS may use the means or instruments to send information that allow the Client to store such information and recover it during an adequate period for the purposes for which that information is intended and that allows its reproduction without changes. Likewise, ETS may provide it the information foreseen in the applicable rules of conduct for provision of the advisory service on investment matters by electronic communications to the electronic mail service we have been provided for that purpose.
